marinij.com
HOME AND GARDEN

Sausalito designer offers new line of lush fabrics

Fabrics from Suzanne Tucker Home's Jardin collection include Filoli, Winterthur and Hidcote. (Photo by Vera Vandenbosch)

By PJ Bremier, IJ correspondent

POSTED: 06/02/17, 3:01 PM PDT

Designer Suzanne Tucker of Tucker & Marks in San Francisco has introduced her gorgeous spring 2017 Suzanne Tucker Home collection of fabrics called Jardin inspired by — and named after — her favorite gardens: Filoli, Giverny, Villandry, Winterthur and Hidcote.

"Travel energizes and inspires me more than anything else," says the Sausalito resident. "No matter where I go, I always come back with a suitcase full of ideas and a camera loaded with images."

In creating this collection, she says she "translated the colors, textures and unique beauty (of those gardens) into a fresh, romantic and timeless textile collection." It's hard to disagree; the fabrics are lovely and would work in almost any home.

Sausalito's Suzanne Tucker has a new collection of fabrics called Jardin. (Photo by Michal Venera)

The first three Jardin fabrics are made of 100 percent linen, Winterthur is a combination of viscose and cotton and Hidcote is 100 percent cotton. Eeach come in a several color choices of colorways, and all are available through Shears and Window (shearsandwindow.com) in San Francisco.